

Solicitation

Solicitors may seem harmless, but here are a few things to think about before you open the door to your home:

- 🔔 You are opening your door and letting into your home a person you know nothing about.
- 🔔 You could be giving a person who claims to be selling merchandise your:
  - Name
  - Drivers license number
  - Address
  - Check account number
  - Credit card number
  - Social Security Number
- 🔔 If you purchase an item from a solicitor, you have just given a stranger all the information they need to steal your identity.
- 🔔 Remember For your personal safety, do not let a stranger into your home. If you want to talk to them, talk with them through the door.

Any person that is selling anything door to door within the city of Lawrence must get a City of Lawrence solicitation license. The city will only issue these licenses to reputable companies. Do not trust anyone who is soliciting and cannot show you their city license.

Any person that is selling anything on the University of Kansas campus must get permission from the University and have a city license. The University issues a written letter to the solicitor, giving them permission to sell on campus. Do not trust any person who cannot show you the University letter and the city license.

Always ask to see the solicitor's documentation. The reputable solicitors will have the appropriate licenses and letters.

There is NO solicitation allowed in any of the University's student housing controlled premises.

Many of these concerns about door to door solicitors also apply to telephone solicitors.
